The North Texas Healthcare Compliance Professionals Association (NTHCPA) invites members and other interested health care compliance professionals to prepare to meet upcoming HIPAA tests by coming for “OSHA Compliance Strategies for Health Care Organizations” from attorney Cynthia Marcotte Stamer at our next NTHCPA Study Group Luncheon on Tuesday, September 16, 2014 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

About the Program

Hospitals, nursing homes and other health care providers face a host of special rules and challenges unique to the health care industry provide that complicate their ability to provide the safe workplace required by the Occupational Health & Safety Act and other health and safety laws. Health industry compliance professionals and their organizations are under growing pressure to meet these challenges. Prompted by is finding that the injury rate of health industry workers is twice the rate for private industry as a whole, the Occupational Health & Safety Administration (OSHA) and other agencies increasingly are working to improve the safety of health care workers by targeting health industry employers for health and safety enforcement and other efforts.

Mr. Chadwick will discuss key OSHA requirements, enforcement developments and compliance risk management strategies to help health care compliance and other health industry leaders manage OSHA and other occupational health and safety compliance responsibilities and risks and other related exposures. Among other things, his presentation will include:

- Core and industry specific occupational health & safety rules impacting health industry employers
- Recordkeeping and reporting requirements
- Anti-retaliation rules;
- New OSHA compliance resources published in January, 2014;
- Tips for preparing for an unexpected OSHA audit
- Tips for investigating and responding to workplace incidents; and
- Other risk management aids and strategies;

North Texas Health Care Compliance Association (NTHCPA) invites health industry compliance and other leaders to catch up on these emerging health and safety exposures and learn key tips for preparing to meet these OSHA and other health and safety law compliance and risk management from Board Certified Labor & Employment attorney Robert G. Chadwick, Jr. at the next NTHCPA Study Group Luncheon on September 16, 2014.
