

KICKIN' COVID-19: REOPENING TEXAS SUMMIT

Doing Business Safely During COVID-19 and Other Pandemics

A Virtual Summit For Texas Business, Community and Government Leaders On Safely Keeping Texas Working During COVID-19 And Other Pandemics

Presented Via Facebook Live

October 8, 2020

11:00 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. Central Daylight Time

Supercharge your organization's ability to do business safely during the COVID-19 and other pandemic health care emergencies by joining other business, community and government leaders online at the Kickin' COVID-19: Reopening Texas Summit, a free virtual event scheduled on Thursday October 8, 2020 from 11:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Central Daylight Time.

A leading biomedical engineering expert providing real world pandemic virus, biowarfare and other infectious disease prevention and management for the CDC, DOD, hospitals, food production and others and business, community and government leaders will share experiences and explore science and resources for safely operating during the ongoing COVID-19 and other pandemic outbreaks.

Virtual participation in the Summit via Facebook Live is available without charge to all interested business, government, community and other leaders here.

Participants will:

- Hear a leading biomedical expert objectively explain the science of COVID-19 and other pandemic risks and their management;
- Hear a panel of key business, community and government leaders discuss how COVID-19 impacts their operations, their response, and their thoughts about what their organizations and Texas need to safely resume operations; and
- View and explore a portable pandemic containment unit and other exhibits demonstrating science based pandemic prevention and management tools promoting safe resumption of operations;
- Join the fireside chat between the panel and live audience of business, community and government leaders discuss practical challenges and opportunities for business, community and government leaders separately or collaboratively can help expedite and support the recovery of their own and other businesses, communities, people and economy from the COVID-19 and future pandemics; and
- Collaborate with other business, government and community leaders on reopening and keeping our businesses, governments, communities and economies open and thriving despite the COVID-19 or another pandemic.

THE AGENDA

11:00 a.m. - 11:30 a.m.	Registration & Exhibit Tour
11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.	Program Welcoming Remarks From Collin County Commissioner Susan Fletcher Business/Community Leader Panel Sharing Their COVID-19 Experience, Management Efforts & Continuing Challenges James Burgess, Ph.D., The Practical Science of COVID-19 and Other Pandemic Spread & Management Speakers & Live Audience Fireside Chat On COVID-19 Challenges, Questions, Next Steps
1:30 p.m. - 3:00 p.m.	Exhibit Tours

LEADERSHIP PANEL & OTHER PRESENTERS

A panel of business, community and government leaders will share how the COVID-19 health care emergency is affecting their operations, their experiences and strategies reopening in response to these challenges, and their perceptions about the other tools and actions that their organizations for their operations and Texas to reopen and operate safely during the COVID-19 or other pandemic outbreaks. The confirmed panelists include:

- James Burgess, Chief Executive Officer, American Biomedical Group, Inc.
- Susan Fletcher, Collin County Commissioner, Precinct 1; Gubernatorial Appointee TCDRS
- George C. Fuller, Owner The Guitar Center and The Sanctuary Music & Events Center; Mayor of McKinney, Texas
- Traci Mayer, Executive Director, Hotel Association of North Texas
- Pam Minick, Executive Vice President of Marketing, Billy Bob's Texas
- Michael Simmons, CISSP, CISM, CISA, CRISC, Managing Director – Technology, Chief Information Security Officer, Southwest Airlines
- Cynthia Marcotte Stamer, Esq., Managing Shareholder, Cynthia Marcotte Stamer, P.C./Executive Director PROJECT COPE Coalition on Patient Empowerment
- Sean Terry, Chief Operating Officer, Centurion American Development Group; Mayor, City of Celina, Texas; past president of the North Texas Mayors Association

THE HOST VENUE

The Summit will be broadcast live from Verona Villa, 6591 Dallas Pkwy, Frisco, TX 75034. Speakers and business, government and community leaders selected to attend the Summit as members of its live in studio audience will enjoy a box luncheon provided by the Front Burner Restaurant Group. ©2020 Pandemic Resource Group™ All rights reserved.