AGENDA

You are cordially invited to attend this timely, interesting and fast moving seminar designed to help you better understand how your company should respond if the unthinkable happens at your place of business.

Disaster Planning has received considerable attention in recent months due to ongoing terrorist activities and the events of September 11th. Not to be overlooked however, are the more common types of disasters including fire, flood, tornado, windstorm, freezing temperature or an unusual crisis situation that could just as easily strike your company's operations.

Too many business leaders think Disaster Planning is merely planning to ensure that computer systems are backed up and operating after a disaster. Creating a carefully thought-out plan is a necessary adjunct to conducting business after such a catastrophe.

Welcome – Jess Alonso, CPCU, Partner, Summit Global Partners

Disaster Preparedness – Alan Brauning, CSP, Assistant Vice President, Loss Control Consultant, Chubb Group
This presentation will cover The Need for a Disaster Plan, Purpose & Strategy of a Disaster Plan, Essential Elements of a Disaster Plan and the Five Components of Business Recovery.

The Finer Points of Business Income – Shelley Bertoux, Marketing Specialist, Summit Global Partners
Brief review of Business Income/Extra Expense Insurance which is intended to offset the cost you would incur from a business interruption claim. Are you adequately insured?

911: An Emergency Preparedness Plan For Managing Your People Through a Catastrophe or Crisis – Cynthia Marcotte Stamer, Partner with the law firm of Andrews & Kurth L.L.P.

Businesses in crisis must depend upon their people's ability to rapidly and appropriately respond to a crisis. Cynthia will share practice tips and strategies to help businesses prepare for and respond to people, human resource and operational concerns when faced with a workplace catastrophe or crisis.

Federal Bureau of Investigations – Special Guest Speaker
Is your business ready for another possible terrorist attack? The FBI will discuss measures that you can and should be implementing to reduce the possibilities at your business.
